We prepare to lead

Our construction project leaders have spent years continually improving and preparing to take on the ultimate level of responsibility.

Preparedness is the unsung hero of every goal kicked and game won. It enables our leaders to set the bar high, galvanise teams and lead by example to inspire the next generation.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE Roger Gould

On behalf of the Queensland Rugby Union, I would like to welcome you to Easts Rugby Union for our first Buildcorp Super W match of 2021, which will see our St. George Queensland Reds take on the NSW Waratahs Women.

It's been over 12 months since a Super W fixture was played, with the finals of the 2020 competition abandoned due to COVID.

Our Queensland Women have had a number of close encounters with the three-time premiers NSW over the last few seasons, but are yet to claim a win over our neighbours to the south.

On behalf of Queensland Rugby Union, welcome to all the NSW players, staff and supporters.

2021 sees a host of new players join the Queensland squad, with players rewarded for their form in the Queensland Premier Rugby Women's competition and the AON University Sevens series.

Within this week's starting match-day-23, there are 12 returning players, seven starting debutants and another four potential debutants in the reserves.

It's fitting that the match will coincide with the Round 11 Allsports Physiotherapy Hospital Challenge Cup between Easts and Bond University, with both clubs contributing a large number of players to the Super W program.

Easts own Cobie-Jane Morgan will lead the side as captain at scrumhalf, and will form a halves combination with her Tigers teammate Loretta Lealiifano, who is on debut.

Vice-captain and openside flanker Lucy Lockhart has been a standout for Bond University in club Rugby, and she will form a backrow combination with fellow Bull Shark Carola Kreis and Easts' April Ngatupuna.

The side also has a new coaching staff this season with plenty of experience coming into the fold. Rama Chand, who has coached various Queensland pathway teams and Premier Colts sides, is the new head coach for 2021, and he will be supported by Anthony Mathison and Manuel Cole-Manolis as assistant coaches and former Wallaby Mark Chisholm as strength and conditioning coach.

With a Rugby World Cup in New Zealand on the horizon, and Test matches against Samoa to be played in July, the Super W competition provides our players with a great opportunity to put their hands up for National honours with the Wallaroos.

Go Reds!

MORGAN & LOCKHART:

2021 ST. GEORGE QUEENSLAND
REDS SUPER W CAPTAINS

Scrumhalf Cobie-Jane Morgan has been named to captain the St.George Queensland Reds in this year's Super W competitions and will be supported by backrower Lucy Lockhart as Vice-Captain.

Morgan, a veteran of the Women's game having debuted for the Wallaroos in 2009, has represented Australia at three Rugby World Cups, whilst also played for the Australian Sevens side.

Morgan made the move to Brisbane after representing New South Wales in the first Super W season in 2018, and has been a staple of the Queensland side since, whilst working as a teacher and introducing the next generation to the game as a coach of schoolgirls Rugby.

"I'm super grateful and honoured to be leading the squad," Morgan said.

"There is lots of talent coming through and to be given the opportunity by the coaching staff to lead this team, I couldn't be prouder.

"We have a lot of Bond girls who have come through the AON University Sevens series and club players from Easts and Sunnybank, who have been rewarded for their great form in club Rugby. There is lots of young talent and I can't wait to play alongside them."

Lockhart, who was part of the first Queensland Super W squad in 2018, has returned to the fold after a stint overseas with Worcester Warriors in England, having made the move back to Australia in 2020 and starring for Bond University in the Queensland Premier Rugby Women's competition.

Lockhart originally came through the Australian Defence Force pathway to be selected for Queensland and is now working as a teacher at Miami State High School having completed her studies in February.

"It's such a big deal for me, being named vice-captain alongside Cobie, it's an honour to be in that position," said Lockhart.

"There are a lot of new faces, but we have a solid group with a mix of talent and they've been training hard so I think it will be a good tournament for us."

Newly appointed head coach Rama Chand is excited to see the pair lead the team around the field in 2021.

"Both Cobie-Jane and Lucy are strong voices within our group and fitting leaders of the team for 2021," Chand said.

"The duo have a long standing connection to the game here in Queensland and have earned the respect of the coaches and players on-and-off the field.

"I'm confident that both women will be strong leaders for us this season and I'm looking forward to seeing them lead the team out at Easts this weekend for our first clash against NSW."

The Queensland side start their campaign this Saturday at Easts Rugby Union Club, with the Tigers also hosting their annual Ladies Day function, with the Round 11 AllSports Physiotherapy Hospital Challenge Cup clash between Easts and Bond University will take place after the Super W match.

"Playing at Easts this weekend, I'll be on home turf - it's my club," said Morgan.

"It's Ladies Day so there will be lots of supporters there, I know the community will be behind us and last weekend we had a day with the Brisbane junior girls at Brothers Rugby Club so they will be there supporting us as well."
