GRANDSTAND FINALE IN PREMIER DIVISION AHEAD

The Griffin Legal John I Dent Cup is ready for a grandstand finish, starting with what could be a top-four decider between Uni-Norths and Queanbeyan.

Owls are perched in fourth place heading into round 15, seven clear of the Whites in fifth. Queanbeyan probably have the more favourable run in, so if they can get a result today, that last playoff spot will be right up for grabs.

Both teams had a chance to close the gap on the top-three but came up just short. The Owls in particular will be probably feel they gave one away against the Eagles at Nicholls enclosed. Look, it was a back and forth affair, and Gungahlin are at such a high level right now that even when they're not firing on all cylinders, they still expect to win but the Owls were so good last weekend, particularly in defence.

The difference on the day was the Eagles extra bit of quality in attack. Tamati Ioane to name one, was just outstanding. His match winner capped off an incredible performance which featured a number of bone-rattling tackles and barn storming carries, the final score 26-20.

Queanbeyan probably weren't as close as the Owls to upsetting the leaders, but still had their chances against Royals. 23-14 doesn't exactly reflect the game, but all in all, Royals controlled proceedings. They certainly weren't dominant though, and the Whites will take some confidence from the hard-fought contest.

At Griffith Oval, Tuggeranong Vikings laid waste to Easts 66-7. The defending champions were bolstered by the return of a number of frontline players which made the task for Easts that much greater.

Angus Wagner and Darcy Swain were back in red and white after touring Argentina with the Brumbies, while Noah Lolesio and Lachlan Loneragan also returned from the land of fire and ice after finishing second in the Junior World Cup. On the day however, the headlines belonged to Ernest Suavai who finished the rout with a spectacular hattrick of tries.

Gungahlin complete their run of home fixtures against Wests today, which is their charity round. Eagles along with Royals and Vikings have already sealed a top-three finish, but with just three points separating them, every match point could be crucial, as they fight for the chance to earn a second bite at making the grand final if they'll need it.

THE ACTRU WALLABY WAY

In recent editions of Stampede there has appeared informative biographies with respect to several of our “home grown” Wallabies, taken from the pages of Jack Pollard’s excellent history of the game, “Australian Rugby Union: The Game and the Players.’

These pre-professional stars, who were selected to play for Australia in Test Match rugby prior to 1984 had to combine their rugby abilities with plenty of other, more personal, sacrifices to make it at the elite level.

It is important to note just what commitment, motivation and sacrifice that these players were confronted with along the Wallaby Way – the way of that rugby era consisted of a number of selectorial paths to the Wallaby Gold, a long and drawn out process that began close to home.

There was usually a large local ACTRU representative program including an annual international representative match and these players would also be asked to play in the annual Country Week tournament against other NSW Country Rugby Zones

From here, selection in a NSW Country firsts or second XV to play in the annual representative match against a Sydney firsts or second XV was the next step, certain ACTRU players would then be selected to play for NSW Country XV for their Representative program, sometimes involving an overseas tour to NZ and a match against touring International countries.

After completing these matches ACTRU players could then be selected for the NSW Representative team who played against visiting International teams and Queensland each season.

The next commitment, if selected, was to play Wallaby trials and then on to Wallaby selection playing visiting International countries in up to three local test matches. Sometimes the Australian Wallabies did tour overseas, and tourists could be expected to be away for three months, particularly if the tour was to the British Isles and France

It must be remembered that selected Wallabies from the ACT Union were not remunerated in any way, such was the ruling of the International Rugby Board of those days. Unpaid leave, the use of diminishing recreation leave and, hopefully, being employed by sympathetic employers, as well as club fundraising did assist our players attaining Wallaby selection and especially status for the ACTRU

When our Union was able to attain separate status and therefore be recognised by the Australian Rugby Union in November 1974, the Wallaby pathway for our players became somewhat easier and more manageable with respect to the time required for travel on the Wallaby way – players were not committed to NSW Country nor NSW selection – therefore selection in the ACTRU Representative team commenced the pathway to become a Wallaby.

With the advent of the Brumbies in 1996 a selection pathway became even easier involving selection in the Brumbies commencing the journey to the international stage.

Whilst our international representatives of today prepare for the Rugby Championship, and the ultimate goal of representing Australia at the 2019 Rugby World Cup in Japan, its worth recalling how different it was as recently as the seventies. A prime example, being Owen Butler of the ACT Northern Suburbs team.

Butler, known as Spider, was once was required to spend 19 weekends out of 21 away in one year from home when playing Representative matches in his Wallaby pathway in late the 1960' and early 1970's. His pathway from Northern Suburbs took in the ACTRU, NSW Country and then the international team.

There are many more of our ACTRU Representative players of that time who did that as well, in 1970 in all thirteen players from the ACTRU Country Week Squad were selected and played for either NSW Country firsts or NSW Country seconds. It was the next step on a long and arduous route to the top.

With considerable thanks to Bryan Lenthall

BOARS RACK UP FIFTY-PLUS AGAINST RAMS

The Batemans Bay Boars have moved into third place on the South Coast Monaro Second Division table after claiming a big bonus-point win over the Yass Rams at Hanging Rock Oval on Saturday afternoon. The Boars ran in eight tries on the day with James Thomas ending with a haul of 21 points from a try, five conversions and a brace of penalties.

It was an important win for the Boars who have a terrific chance to cement their position on the table when they make the trip South to Jindabyne to tackle the Bushpigs at the Jindabyne Sports Ground this weekend as Round 14 action takes centre stage.

The Bushpigs surrendered the third-place position, falling three points behind the Boars, after they suffered a sixth defeat of the season in Round 13, narrowly falling to a 17-22 defeat away to the Braidwood Redbacks. Jared Cummins crossed for two tries for the Bushpigs, with Simon Rudd adding their third but the home side responded with four of their own to win the clash.

A visit from the Broulee Dolphins is next on the agenda for the Redbacks, a home fixture in Braidwood that they will be confident of securing maximum points from, as the Dolphins search for a first point of the season.

The side from Broulee gave a good account of themselves in Round 13 despite being heavily defeated by Taralga Tigers, the vesting side racking up a thirteenth win of the season, and a twelfth bonus point in the process, with a 71-7 success that was, perhaps, less than many people predicted.

Tigers did claim eleven tries with Joel Croker converting eight of them to go along with his try for a 21-point gain. Incredibly, ten of the eleven tries were shared amongst the team with only one player scoring more than one, William Hedley. James Marmont, Isaac Elliott, Benjamin Thomas, Jacob Johnson, Lachlan Corbett, Brendyn Lonesborough, Samuel Conlon and Nicholas Bennett joined Croker amongst the scorers.

Elsewhere, the Crookwell Dogs recorded a bonus-point 31-14 win away to the Bungendore Mudhooks as Liam Jones, James Croker and William Croker were on the score-sheet. The Dogs play the tigers away in Taralga this weekend whilst Bungendore host the Yass Rams.

EASTS TAKE CONTROL OF WOMEN'S PREMIERSHIP

Tuggeranong Viqueens have re-ignited their premiership aspirations with a hard-fought narrow 17-12 victory over league leaders Easts in Round 8 of the ACT Women's Premiership. The victory, at Griffith Oval, has allowed the Viqueens to move to within five-points of the top-placed Easts, with a game in hand, to set-up a grandstand finale to the campaign.

In a battle of attrition at Griffith, a brace of tries from Ema Masi helped the Vikings to hold off Easts, the five-point buffer for the visitors meaning that the home side lost for only the second time this season. Renee Fleming and Kobe Nona scored Easts tries, with Ashleigh Leech adding a conversion, but it wasn't enough to reel in Tuggeranong who claimed a vital win.

The Viqueens will be out to maintain their forward momentum this weekend when they hit the road again, travelling to the Australian National University for a fixture against the Uni-Norths Owls. The Owls had the bye last weekend but could move into second above the Tuggeranong side with a victory in this match.

Royals remain fourth on the ladder after they defeated winless Wests 31-12 at Jamison Oval, but it was a much better performance for the home side who crossed for two excellent tries, both claimed by centre Chi Enyi. Scrumhalf Sammy Maxwell banged over a conversion for Wests whilst Grace Kemp scored one of five tries for the visiting Royals.

Royals make the trip to Griffith this weekend to take on Easts in their latest match hoping to move into third-place with a win, coupled with the Vikings defeating the Owls in their encounter. With only two rounds left until the Finals series, the top four are looking to start building for knockout football.

The Wallaroos are in action this weekend as well, with consecutive fixtures to be played against Japan on Saturday 13 July at Newcastle No. 2 Sports Ground with the second test next weekend, Saturday 19 July, at North Sydney Oval. The Hunter region is one of the strongest for women's rugby and these matches are a good chance to showcase the country's best talent to future players. Both matches will be broadcast LIVE on FOX SPORTS and Kayo.

BIG WIN FOR GOULBURN RE-ASSERTS AUTHORITY

The Goulburn Dirty Reds have re-asserted their authority in the First Division First Grade competition as they bounced back from a defeat at the hands of league leaders Gungahlin Eagles in Round 12 to rack up a huge 78-7 victory over Uni-Norths Owls at Simon Poidevin Rugby Park in Round 13. The win has Goulburn in second place on the table, seven-points behind the Eagles, and has secured finals football.

There were a dozen tries for the Dirty Reds faithful to celebrate on the weekend with Matthew Spratley, Jordan Wilcox and Mikael Webber racking up half that number between them with two scores apiece. Webber had a most productive afternoon, as he usually does, adding nine conversions to his tries for a 28-point personal tally towards the final score.

Hall kept up their hopes of playing in the finals' series with an upset win over Canberra Royals at the Hall Showground. The Bushrangers emerged as 23-19 victor's over the Royals to move to within six points of ADFA in fourth, well within striking difference with a game in hand on the side above them on the table.

Both teams managed to cross the line for three tries, Conor O'Donoghue, James Murphy and Andrew McCoola the Bushrangers try-scorers, but it was the boot of Murphy with two conversions and a penalty, plus a penalty from O'Donoghue that proved the difference in the end.

Wests meanwhile thrashed Cooma 55-15 at Jamison Oval to claim their bonus-point victory, a win that moved them up to seventh on the table. Wests managed nine tries in the big victory with Caleb Stevens crossing for a treble. Daniel Hopkin picked up two tries in defeat for Cooma.

Table-topping Gungahlin Eagles will welcome Wests to Nicholls Enclosed for their Round 13 match-up with the Eagles close to securing the number one seed for the Finals. The Dirty Reds are at home to EMC at Simon Poidevin Oval at the same time with the Owls welcoming Queanbeyan Whites to the ANU. In other matches, Easts host Royals at Griffith Oval with Tuggeranong Vikings welcoming the Bushrangers to Viking Park.

The Gungahlin Eagles would like to give special thanks to our sponsors of 2019. We ask all members of ACT Rugby to give special consideration to them in their respective industries.
